Team Fortress 2 is an action multiplayer first-person shooter video game developed by Valve Corporation. Released in October 2007 for Windows and Xbox 360, support for Macintosh systems was added in June 2008 via the Mac Update system. A PlayStation 3 port was released in April 2011 via the PlayStation Network. The game is a successor to Team Fortress Classic, which was itself a successor to the original Half-Life mod for Quake. Team Fortress 2 received "Gold" sales award from the Entertainment and Leisure Software Publishers Association (ELSPA), indicating sales of at least 200,000 copies in the United Kingdom. "Gold" was awarded to Team Fortress 2 in May 2010 by ELSPA. On 29 December 2015, over five million people played Team Fortress 2 on Steam in-game server browser statistics on Valve's website indicate. On 15 December 2016, Valve Poland reported that TF2 had sold three million unique players since its release in 2007 on PC platforms alone. Team Fortress 2 has steadily grown as a competitive eSport game. TF2Connexion, the premier North American league, was founded in 2009 and offers a variety of 1v1 and Highlander tournaments throughout the year, with cash prizes for the top three competitors of each tournament. Top players from the league and its counterparts around the world can be found playing in larger tournaments such as those hosted by Electronic Sports League (ESL), Multiplay Insomnia Gaming Festivals (IGF), and Dreamhack. Since 2010, Team Fortress 2 has been featured at Insomnia, which hosts the Multiplay i46 LAN tournament. Insomnia also hosts the Insomnia LAN finals every year in TF2. A large part of Team Fortress 2's competitive community is found playing in the established Highlander League, which features its own LAN finals at major tournaments. Popular players in Highlander include Ma3la, Solokiller and Tpw_DellortM, former Virtus.pro team captain and competitive player. There are also many high level players that compete across all of the game modes: Highlander (competitive 1v1), Mann vs. Machine (competitive 2v2), and all of its variants (5 on 5, 8 on 8, etc).
